

OBSTRUCTION OF VIEW PROTESTED TO COUNCIL

"A Room with a View" is an amenity that cannot be safeguarded by legislation. So it appears from a discussion at the meeting of North Saanich council on Monday.

Council, however, was generally sympathetic to the plea of Mrs. J. Hebbert, 8615 East Saanich Road, who is concerned that a projected dwelling will obstruct a view that has been enjoyed since the house was purchased in 1952.

The local situation concerns two lots adjoining that of Mrs. Hebbert. The owner of the further lot proposes to build as low as possible, which means that the house on the centre lot will be erected in a position to almost entirely block the view of the original house.

"Not only for myself, but for the owners of all view properties, I feel that there should be some law to protect us from having our views obstructed," said Mrs. Hebbert. She urged also that her property would depreciate in value.

Municipal Clerk M.W.E. Allen reported that he had consulted with various authorities on the question. Opinion of the Saanich municipal planner is that legislation to establish the position of a house on a lot would be ultra vires unless convalidated. Such a clause would be unusual because of a lack of flexibility. Enquiries have been made with other municipalities without too much success, it was reported, and council resolved to table the question until the next meeting pending a legal opinion.

Sidney Alderman J.E. Boshier formally announced Monday night that he would not stand for re-election this year.

The move completes for the senior alderman a total of ten years' service on Sidney council, both as a village and during its later designation as a town.

Upon reading the letter of retirement, Mayor A.W. Freeman offered his commendations for the service rendered by Mr. Boshier over the years.

The term expires at the end of the current year.

A. W. Sharp, McTavish Road, was elected director of the Red Chevrons Association at the annual meeting held at the Army, Navy, and Air Force Club rooms in Victoria on Friday, Nov. 3. This association is composed of First War Veterans who were on active service in 1914.

NO CHANGE IN LIBRARY POLICY IS PLANNED BY COUNCILLORS NOW

After hearing the report of Councillor Mrs. Nell North on Monday, North Saanich council appeared to agree that it would not be advantageous to change from Vancouver Regional Library service to the Greater Victoria Library at the present time.

Her inquiry into the respective merits and costs of services had been made at the express request of council, after the possibility of withdrawing from the Regional library some time in the future had been raised by a councillor. Council accepted Councillor North's report, which was presented "entirely without prejudice."

Referring to the preliminary budget of the Regional Library, Councillor North quoted assessments on the 1966 basis of $7,054 for North Saanich and $8,379 for Sidney. The proposed alternate method of assessment, where ability to pay is a determining factor, would result in charges of $9,427 and $6,692 respectively, it was stated.

It was concluded that the Greater Victoria Library cost at the present time would be up to $1 per capita in excess of the Regional Library charges.

"Whichever way we go, the cost will go up," commented Reeve J.B. Cumming. It was observed that Central Saanich is paying more for library services, but is getting more for the money in the way of comprehensive services. "Financially, we are better off to stay put," it was observed.

Representatives Of Many Groups At Remembrance Day Services

Representatives from clubs, organizations, all three government levels, and service groups gathered Saturday morning to honor those who fell in past wars.

The various groups formed up in parade order in front of the Army, Navy, and Air Force Veterans' Hall on Fourth Street, and marched up Beacon Avenue to Sanscha Hall. At the hall, they formed up in the centre of the floor in parade order, with the general public on the sides and at the rear.

The remembrance service was conducted by the Rev. K.M. King, who stood in for Rev. Canon P. C. Vaughan-Birch, padre of the Legion, who was ill, and by Rev. John M. Wood of Brentwood.

They were assisted by the presidents of the Royal Canadian Legion, Larry James, and of the Army, Navy, and Air Force Veterans, Lyle Miskiman.

The gun to mark the traditional two minutes' silence was fired by the Fifth British Columbia Battery, R.C.A., and the trumpets were sounded by members of the band of North Saanich Junior Secondary School. The latter was complimented for their fine performance.

Following the service, wreaths were laid on the cenotaph by many groups, including:

The Motherhood of Canada, wreath laid by Mrs. A. G. Deveson; the Member of Parlia-

To Buy Tickets

Dr. L. Austin Wright and K.J. Norgaard formed a deputation on behalf of Victoria Symphony Society at the meeting of North Saanich council last Monday. Council resolved to continue the policy of purchasing tickets admittling to symphony concerts at Sanscha Hall for distribution to high school children and old age pensioners. The sum of $100 was voted.

Announcement was made to The Review on Tuesday by former Municipal Clerk A.W. Sharp that he will contest the mayoralty in the forthcoming election in the Town of Sidney. Incumbent Mayor A.W. Freeman announced his own candidature last week so a contest for the chair is now assured.

"I have been urged by so many electors to enter the election race that I have decided to allow my name to stand," said Mr. Sharp. He promised to outline his platform in the near future.

Mr. Sharp saw long service in both World Wars and was retired with the rank of Squadron Leader from the R.C.A.F. He came to Sidney from Dawson Creek, where he had long municipal experience, in April, 1953. In Sidney he served as municipal clerk, building inspector, plumbing inspector, trades licence inspector and assessor. He ended his service with Sidney one year ago.

Mr. Sharp resides on McTavish Road.

Larger Area Is Proposed

A new Civil Defence area, comprising the districts of North and Central Saanich and the Town of Sidney, comes into effect shortly.

In view of the imminence of the new district's creation, local Civil Defence authorities have been advertising for a part-time civil defence co-ordinator.

Because of the increased amount of time such a creation would represent, Sidney Mayor Freeman Monday night tendered his resignation as civil defence co-ordinator for Sidney.

Approval in principle of the new area is likely from the town, officials say.

North Saanich council last Monday accepted the civil defence merger report presented by Councillor D.R. Cook, and Municipal Clerk M.W.E. Allen was requested to prepare the necessary by-law amendments for council consideration.

ROYAL GIFT

At this very moment, the Duke of Edinburgh may be reading to his children from the book "Son of Raven, Son of Deer" which was placed on the market recently by Gray's Publishing Ltd. of Third Street, Sidney. In Toronto last Wednesday, Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth, appeared at the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association. There he accepted a copy of the locally published book written by B.C. Indian, George Clutesi, and used as a text book in British Columbia primary schools. The YWCA made the presentation.

STRONG PROTESTS OVER NOCTURNAL NOISES

Chapter and verse of the Noise Abatement by-law was quoted to North Saanich council last Monday in a vigorous protest following night operations at the CPR dock development on Dolphin Road.

In a letter to council, R.N. Spencer, 220 Dolphin Road, charged that heavy equipment was used through the night of November 5/6 in direct violation of the by-law.

"As a result of the unbearable noise my wife (who suffers from partial loss of hearing), myself, and our nine month old son didn't get any sleep that night and most of the following morning. He added that noise during the day is 'barely tolerable'."

The complaint was backed by a subsequent long letter from Mrs. R.A. Spencer, who protested a 12-hour cut in the water supply, and said that the deplorable condition of the temporary road "has caused damage to our car, and those of our friends who were hardy enough to come."

"I have been subjected to constant clatter and clutter, confined to the immediate area, and unable to get my buggy more than a few feet in the deep mud during this time until the past week," said Mrs. Spencer.

Her statement that the RCMP had told her that the by-law in question was not available to them was countered at council level.

"The RCMP have a complete file of our by-laws," said Municipal Clerk M.W.E. Allen.

The complainant continued to say that she and her neighbors had been visited by two representatives of the construction company, implying "that the municipality and RCMP had said if they got the permission of the householders they could operate." Her final appeal was to "the governing body of the district and protector of the rights and freedoms of those who dwell within its confines."

"Can we take it that the by-law is now being enforced?" asked Councillor D.R. Cook.

"To the best of our ability," replied Reeve J.B. Cumming. He explained that the low tides have been during the hours of darkness. He recognized the complaints and the difficulties of the situation. It was resolved to inform the complainants that the by-law is being enforced.

Appointed

Central Saanich council last week appointed Municipal Clerk P.B. Durrand, as returning officer for the municipal elections to be held on Saturday, Dec. 9. The usual polling stations at the Municipal Hall, Saanichton, Brentwood Women's Institute Hall and the Farmer's Institute, East Saanich Road, were authorized.

LADIES MEET

President Mrs. C. D. Turner was in the chair for the November meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Rest Haven Hospital in the hospital lounge on Wednesday last. Twenty-six members attended and four visitors were welcomed. The next meeting will be held on Dec. 13 at 10 a.m.

Centennial Medal

Presented with a Canadian Government Centennial Medal recently is Sidney Elementary School principal Mrs. B.M. Lassfolk. Seen with the medal, she also holds the citation which accompanies the medal.

Question Is Raised Of "Y" Connections

A letter of complaint read Monday night is spurring Sidney council into creation of a firm policy on "Y" sewer connections.

The letter, over the signature of L.S. Gudmundson, protested the recent installation of a connection to a sewer lateral line from the Medical Arts Building. Mr. Gudmundson also appeared before council to explain his position. He operates the barbershop adjoining the building.

When the medical building was built, the owners of the new structure paid for connection to the lateral line. Recently, a radiologist opened an office in the building, and his equipment necessitated a new connection to the sewer.

However, it was found that in order to connect directly to the existing lateral, a great amount of building flooring would have to be torn up, and pavement across Beacon Avenue would have to be ripped out and replaced.

More simple, plumbers figured, would be to connect in to the lateral connecting to the barbershop. However, in doing so, the plumber failed to notify Mr. Gudmundson.

At council meeting, Mr. Gudmundson wanted to know whether such a connection was legal. The question brought forth the reply -- after much searching by municipal officials -- that "Y" connections were not the subject of any firm policy.

The only statement on the matter that could be found was that the public works committee had recommended to council that no further "Y" connections be made, due to possible future blockage problems.

However, no action had been taken on the matter. Further action is promised in the near future, with the possibility of a by-law to cover the matter being created.

SPECIAL MEETING

A special meeting of Sidney Town Council will be held Thursday afternoon at 4:15 to open tenders for the new addition to the R.C.M.P. quarters in the municipal office.

Education Honored By Medals

Three senior staff members of Clarendon Secondary School were recently honored for their community services when Canadian Government Centennial Medals were presented to them. The three men, who represent a total of 85 years in the teaching profession, are, from left: D.E.

Brockenridge, mathematics teacher, who has been teaching for 43 years; J.W. Yell, principal of Clarendon, mathematics and social studies teacher, who has been teaching for 22 years; and J.S. Clark, in charge of biology and zoology, who has been teaching for 26 years.

SEWERAGE FOR DEEP COVE IS PROPOSED TO COUNCIL

Deep Cove Chalet plan to install a sewage disposal system of 500 population capacity was passed by North Saanich council to the Pollution Control Director for adjudication on Monday evening.

Technical data provided drawn up by consultant engineers for the applicant has been studied by a committee of council, who were professionally advised, said Councillor T.C.M. Davis, that the aeration treatment proposed provides "an adequate and proven means" of sewage disposal.

Council voted to accept the report of the committee, a copy of which will go forward to the Pollution Control Director together with the application.

According to the submission, a treatment area, fenced and screened from view, would process domestic wastes from the Chalet restaurant. The effluent would be discharged by four-inch plastic pipe into deep water at a point south of Moses Point. The treatment plant would serve a maximum of 500 people.

Councillor Davis said that the scheme has been checked and approved by the municipal consultant engineer. It is claimed that the effluent would be "clean and odorproof." He said that it would be necessary that there should be adequate provision for the efficient operation and inspection of the installation.

Reeve J.B. Cumming agreed, and commented "I don't find an open tank sewage system very attractive. A multitude of plastic pipes on the sea bed discharging into the waters rather worries me."

"Why was the Brentwood scheme not approved?" queried Councillor F.C. Adams.

"That was a different matter entirely. There was an emotional reaction," replied the reeve. He said that the current for dispersal is sufficient north of Wain's Rock.

Councillor Nell North wondered whether the sports fisherman would be heard from.

"Oh, you will," remarked Reeve Cumming, with emphasis. He explained that the question of a public hearing on the matter rests with the Pollution Control Director.

Reporting later on the recent proceedings of the Regional Board, the reeve informed council that it is forecast that a trunk sewer and laterals to serve the Deep Cove area will be required after the year 1995.

"So if you plan on seeing this century out, you may see the Regional District sewers also," he commented.

Describing the Deep Cove waterfront as "our most populous area," the Reeve said that sewers will only be proposed and constructed when they are asked for.

"The Health department would have to report that most septic tanks are ineffective, or the Pollution Control Board make complaint of the waterfront. Sewers would then be initiated by council at the request of the people, who would then vote on the financial aspect of the matter. The last word lies with the people and the protection of their health," said the reeve.

He said that the situation on the other side of the Peninsula is different, and the recommendation is to collect all sewer outlets and put them into one outfall at Ocean Ave.

"The outlet and the loop to Weiler Ave., will be made large enough to serve North Saanich," said Reeve Cumming. "The necessary increase in dimensions will be charged to us, and only that increase."

"Other plans also are dated for the end of the century, and are too remote for our consideration," he concluded.

Plan Dinner

George Chatterton, Esquimalt-Saanich member of Parliament, will attend a dinner in Harbor House, Ganges, on the evening of November 24 which will be chaired by Sir Philip Livingstone. At 8 p.m. a meeting of Progressive-Conservative supporters will be held in the hotel.

CAR LOT

An application for rezoning of two lots bounded by the Patricia Bay Highway, Mills Cross Road, and Henry Avenue for use as a new and used car lot was referred to both the Department of Highways and to the Capital Region Planning Board. The application was over the signature of R.W. Page, president of P and R Investment and Development Company, Victoria.

SEWAGE-WASHED BEACHES SCORCHED BY ALDERMAN

Alderman Mrs. Norma Sealey Monday night presented some comments on sewage disposal in this area. The remarks offered are as follows:

"Due to requests from ratepayers of this area, and in the capacity of Health Committee, I feel obligated to comment on the matter of sewage disposal. There seems to be a general growing indignation by the public over the manner in which sewage is being disposed of; namely through dumping at sea, in its raw state.

"The residents of the Town of Sidney are no exception, and I have received countless requests over the past 10 months to 'do something about it.' Unfortunately over the past 10 months I have found this to be a rather discouraging chore. The attitudes of this council have not been receptive to changing the way things have been done in the past. On one occasion I was admonished by a finger-wagging and told that if I started talking about spending taxpayers' money on sewage treatment I would never be re-elected. Be that as it may, I am rather more concerned about solving the problem, than I am about my personal popularity. The time has come for the politicians to stand up and be counted, and the time has come for the public to be informed that this is your health and well-being they are playing politics with. What price do we place on health?

"One of the problems which I am particularly familiar with is the beach at Lochside Drive. Acting on complaints received earlier this year I requested samples be taken along the shoreline. The only action I obtained was an explanation that the problem was seaweed. I cannot believe that the scum, froth and muck washing up on that beach was attributed to seaweed. There is also toilet paper and a fair number of contraceptive devices washed in with the tide, and I cannot imagine that they all come from boats. Furthermore, although I have spent my entire life in fairly close proximity to the sea, I have never smelled seaweed that offensive. There are certain pockets along the beach where even if you dig down 6 inches to a foot into the gravel, you encounter this foul smell, which no amount of scrubbing will wash off your skin. Even if these factors did not prevent health problems, what of aesthetic values? It was finally only by direct contact with the local health inspector that sampling was carried out. This sampling has pointed up a certain amount of pollution in this area, and there will be a further series of samplings carried out. I must point out that the local inspector has been most helpful. However, due to understaffing of the health board (which has previously been reported in newspapers), there is a great demand on the inspector's time. Therefore results do not become available as fast as we might like.

"This year the condition of the beach has deteriorated considerably, to the point where many people would not allow their children on the beach, and have taken the time to phone and tell me why. They have my sympathy because I would not allow my own children on the beach. Unfortunately we have no way of knowing how many children from other areas may have contracted an infection from playing or swimming at this beach. We must also consider that this beach extends beyond our boundary into North Saanich, a problem which certainly would have been better dealt with as an amalgamated unit.

"At this time of year the beach at Lochside is also being used by persons digging clams. In view of the fact that shellfish are considered to be possible carriers of hepatitis and other virus, it is essential that the public be informed of the dangers, and they may then use their own discretion about eating such shellfish. I would regard such warnings as merely a temporary measure, as I feel the time has come to consider future plans.

"The Greater Victoria Sewerage Study allows for the continuation of dumping raw sewage at sea; however, throughout the study they point out in many places that this is an 'economic solution.' A national publication in reporting on this study for the area, points out (I feel rather mockingly) 'Dump it in the sea' has been the basic formula for getting rid of anything unwanted for more than 100 years.' Even our sewerage study states 'In spite of these economic considerations public opinion may demand that more sophisticated treatment processes be employed.'

"If public opinion is what is required then perhaps the time has come for the public to raise its collective voices, and demand a further look into the situation. I feel chambers of commerce should also become involved, if they are at all concerned with the tourist industry. We could have a vast potential here with our beaches and various amenities of the area. But no tourist is going to travel halfway across the continent to look at polluted beaches.

"I cannot see the economy in committing ourselves financially for the next 50 years to a system that will be considered obsolete in 10 years, indeed if it is not considered so now! We are spending vast amounts of money on education in this day and age. Why then should we not avail ourselves of some of the technological advantages gained by this improved education?

"Section 25, Chapter 170 of the Health Act reads 'No common sewer or system of sewerage shall be established or continued unless there is maintained in connection therewith a system of sewage purification and disposal which removes and avoids any menace to the public health.' As long as there remains a need anywhere in the entire area for beaches to be formally posted as being 'polluted' then we are not fulfilling our obligation under this Act."

Sidney Guides Need Assistance

A cry for help has been sounded by the Captain of the First Sidney Girl Guide Troop. She is Mrs. Alexander MacRae, of 8428 Lawrence Road in the Saanichton area. For some months now, she has been attempting to keep girl guide activities running smoothly.

However, the job is proving a bit much. Thirty-seven girls -- as any teacher will tell you -- is not an easy group to think up new activities for, and to begin to give attention to.

So, if there is in the area any person or persons -- preferably a younger active woman -- who could lend a hand in this critical area, please give Mrs. MacRae a call at 652-2006.

Superintendent

SUPERINTENDENT PRICE

Robert S. Price assumed the duties of district superintendent of schools for School Districts No. 63 (Saanich) and No. 64 (Gulf Islands) as of November 1st.

Mr. Price has been with the department of education for 10 years. During the past seven years he has been district superintendent of schools in the Ladysmith and Lake Cowichan District and the three years preceding, was in the superintendency covering Fraser Canyon, Agassiz and Princeton areas.

Mr. Price is no stranger to this area, as during the period 1952-1956 he was principal of Royal Oak Junior-Senior Secondary School and in the past couple of weeks has been renewing acquaintances with various principals and teachers who were with the Saanich school district at that time.

Mr. Price was taken on a tour of the schools by A.G. Blair, secretary-treasurer, and the former's reaction was very positive towards school accommodation which the Board has provided for the pupils and students in this area.

The new superintendent was introduced to the schools on Ganges by Mrs. J.R. Sturdy, secretary-treasurer.

WIT'S END

By WINDSOR

Strange how a small thing can lead to a great deal of activity. A man has an idea and eventually it involves hundreds maybe thousands of people in the world famous Shakespearean Festival at Stratford, Ontario. Another determines to do something about an evil and through his efforts, obscure at the time, a great international society like the S. P.C.A. came to be born.

I suppose that the idea, or the small action, is the catalyst which starts an expanding chain of activity. On a small scale I have recently been watching this same sort of process. It all began because of a pound of soil.

Sometimes Mrs. I wrote about Mr. and Mrs. Robert McVe, whose personal Centennial project was to cross Canada, from Sidney to Sydney, gathering soil as they went. A pound of this truly Canadian earth was given by the McVeys to the Brentwood Scouts and Cubs, in case they would like to plant a commemorative tree during this important year, and this small gesture has, in its turn, stimulated many people into many hours of voluntary labour.

It was decided that a dogwood, emblematic of British Columbia should be planted at the Scout Hall, and a local man, Ken Stanlake promised to provide one. However, you can't do this sort of thing without a certain amount of ceremonial, so a committee was appointed to arrange a proper program. It would be nice to have parents and guests in attendance, so another committee set to work to see that all were asked. Of course they should be offered refreshments afterwards so a number of ladies began baking. Then, if the adults were going to be offered goodies, you couldn't overlook about 40 hungry Scouts and Cubs, so there was more baking.

Meanwhile Scoutmaster Dave Anderson and Cubmaster Alec MacRae decided that as guests would be coming the hall and grounds should be spruced up. They set to work, aided by some of the older lads, on a clean up, tidy up, paint up, and general repair program around the house. By my estimation, that one pound of soil must have started off about 100 hours of volunteer work by fathers, mothers, and sons.

Chamber To Meet Dec. 4

Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce will hold a meeting for the election of officers at Brentwood Women's Institute on Monday, Dec. 4, at 8 p.m. All businessmen and interested residents are invited to attend.

At a meeting in the Institute hall on Monday of last week a nominating committee was formed. There was an encouraging attendance, and among the topics of an informal discussion were the questions in which areas the Chamber should function, and suggested plans for the immediate future.

Chamber of Commerce president, Percy Lazarz, emphasized the importance of a community organization of this nature, and of the vital role it should play in the life and welfare of Central Saanich municipality.

"If the attendance and enthusiasm shown at this meeting are any indication, the Central Saanich Chamber should enjoy a very energetic and fruitful year," said Mr. Lazarz.

As to the ceremony itself, I thought that the boys did themselves great credit, being very steady and serious on the parade, putting on a good show for the proud parents and interested guests. Among them I noticed Archdeacon Maddocks and Father Mudge, representing the local clergy. Reeve Gordon Lee and Councillors Benn, Andrews and Mitchell from Central Saanich, and District Commissioner Percy Wilkinson from the Scouts, who told me that 50 brothers had gone to school in the building that is now the Brentwood Scout Hall.

One thing that I particularly liked was that every scout and cub there had a share in planting the dogwood. Once it was in position they all filed past, and each added a small amount of the special soil. This was good, because there is nothing like participation to arouse interest in youngsters.

Another good thing, I thought, was the idea of a tree. In our technological society, which these boys will inherit, we have gone a long way towards conquering nature. With a power saw or a bulldozer, any fool can rush in and knock down a wood that took a century to grow. Of course trees must come down, but all too often they are brought down needlessly, because someone has gone hog wild with power equipment. Therefore it is good, with our children, to try and impress on them that even more important than cutting down a tree, is to start growing one.

Many thanks to those sterling men and women who helped me out with this year's Community Chest in Brentwood Bay. Despite difficulties one lady I am sorry to say, was bitten by a dog, another chased by a goat, they did a wonderful job and surpassed their target.

Again, many thanks.

CENTRAL SAANICH

REEVE LEE STRESSES NEED FOR AID IN SEWERAGE CONSTRUCTION

An approved scheme for the installation of sanitary sewers in Central Saanich could lead to a start on the work in the early summer of next year, said Reeve R. Gordon Lee this week. The paramount consideration, however, is that there must be a measure of financial assistance from the senior governments.

The peculiar position of Central Saanich was noted with sympathy at the meeting of the Regional Board last week. Said Reeve Lee, "it was freely volunteered by the other municipalities, particularly the City of Victoria, that it would be quite impractical for rural municipalities to finance an acceptable sewerage system where the population is so sparse."

"The health authorities are continually hounding us to clean up the existing unsanitary situation in the Brentwood Bay area," said the reeve. He pointed out to the Regional Board Directors that the municipality in its efforts to clean up a recognized bad spot was not activated by a wish to be ahead of other municipalities. The fact that Central Saanich might appear to be ahead of other authorities in its plan to implement the recommendations of the area sewer survey is attributable to a situation that existed long before the Regional Board accepted responsibility for the installation of trunk sewers throughout the metropolitan area.

Directors of the Regional Board last week agreed to appoint consultant engineers to work out the details of the $23, 500,000 trunk sewerage scheme before submissions are made to the Pollution Control Board for approval.

Central Saanich on its own initiative appointed Russell E. Potter and Associates to prepare such a plan, insofar as the municipality is affected, following the failure of the limited scheme to service the Brentwood Bay area last summer.

Reeve Lee told the Directors that this action was a matter of necessity in the circumstances. He felt sure that the plan will meet the requirements of the regional survey, and received an assurance that if this is so Central Saanich will not be required to contribute to the further engineering study.

Although no official announcement has been made it now appears that Central Saanich council has received from its consultants an acceptable plan for the installation of a trunk sewer across the Peninsula to a deep sea outfall into Georgia Strait. It is permissible to assume that the scheme closely follows the conditions laid down in the $70,000 regional survey which is the basis of the com-

Finance is the great stumbling block. "As far as we are concerned it would not be considered reasonable to float debentures at the present high interest rates of 6 1/2 or seven per cent," said Reeve Lee. "It is absolutely necessary that a senior government, presumably the province, should move to provide sufficient funds at low interest to get the scheme off the ground," he commented.

He emphasized that the average cost of a sewer installation to subscribers in a rural area such as Central or North Saanich could be the double or even treble the cost to the urban ratepayer, therefore the only solution is a financial provision on the part of a higher authority.

Letters Patent governing the Regional Board responsibility for sanitary sewer implementation provide that each municipality shall pay for trunk sewer facilities, treatment plants, pumping stations and outfalls, proportionate to the required services. In other words, the rural municipalities, as and when they are required to install sanitary sewers, are faced with a per capita financial burden altogether beyond very real capacity to pay unless very real assistance is forthcoming.

Residents Approve

Promotions of two members of the Sidney detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police last week met with genuine approval of residents of the area served by this group. The local detachment is responsible for policing of all of Sidney, North Saanich and even some of the waters surrounding the Peninsula.

This particular district has never been the centre of excessive crime. Nevertheless periodically serious crimes do occur and breaking and entering is not unknown. Record of the local detachment has been particularly good in cleaning up cases of this type. Were it not for the continuous patrols carried out, incidence of crime would unquestionably be much worse.

It's not so many years ago when only one constable covered the area now known as Sidney and North Saanich. Then there were two. The local detachment is growing in size continuously and residents generally agree that the "Mounties" are doing a most satisfactory job.

School Referendum

While preparations are being made for the annual municipal elections in this area on Dec. 9, property owners should not overlook the school building referendum which will be voted on the same day. Nothing is more important to the welfare of a community than the educational program provided for the children. That's why such a large slice of the tax dollar is devoted to maintaining the school system. That is another reason why next month's referendum is important.

A public meeting which will be held in North Saanich Junior Secondary School tonight has been widely advertised. School trustees will be present to explain the reasons and needs for this supplementary referendum. The meeting should attract a large attendance -- for only if the electorate is properly informed can they vote intelligently on Dec. 9.

He Promoted Culture

The imminent departure of Dr. L. Austin Wright, although but a relatively short distance to the Mount Douglas neighborhood, will not we trust entirely sever his close association with the communities of the Saanich Peninsula.

As a director of the Victoria Symphony Society Dr. Wright's earnest and untiring efforts in the promotion of symphonic and choral concerts at Sanscha Hall have been of the utmost value in the cultural advancement of the community. The amount of necessary preparatory work behind the scenes is not always remembered by those privileged to enjoy the finished performance of a first-class symphony orchestra and talented guest artists.

Dr. Wright's love of music is matched by his earnest endeavours toward sustaining the interests of the Victoria Symphony Society, and particularly, it may be said, for the continued success of the customary series of concerts each season in Sidney. He has paid a large part in the triumphs and, alas, the financial anxieties so inevitably associated with the promotion of the arts.

Service to the community is none the less meritorious when the field of endeavour is in accord with personal inclination. In the realm of music the interest of the patron has ever been the link between creative genius and the desired fulfilment of public recognition and appreciation. We hope that Dr. Wright will long be identified with the affairs of Victoria Symphony Society.

I am writing on behalf of myself and neighbors, regarding the flooding of our premises last Friday.

I phoned the town office repeatedly with regards to this but was always informed that the clerk was too busy to come to the phone not until my husband phoned were we able to communicate with him.

Sometime later he came to look at the situation, and this was the second time the clerk came and viewed the alarming situation. They promised to come first thing Monday morning to do something about this about this and as yet they have not showed up.

Isn't it about time that we had some one with technical knowledge to be responsible and have the authority to take action in these emergencies?

I am sure I am only one of many who was pleased to see in The Review that our present Reeve, Mr. J. B. Cumming, is offering his services for another two year term.

Mr. Cumming has shown himself to be forthright and honorable in all his actions and to be always working for the good of us all who are residents of this most choice municipality. He has shown us intelligent leadership in all facets of municipal government and has a wonderful grasp of the intricacies of finance, public works and administration. Sponsored by the Sidney Rotary Club, an impressive tree planting ceremony took place on the grounds in front of Sidney's town hall on Remembrance Day when an eastern maple tree was implanted. The tree was stamped with dirt brought back by Mr. and Mrs. Robert McVey of Central Saanich who travelled in centennial year from Sidney to Sydney, Nova Scotia, gathering soil samples. In the above picture are shown Mr. and Mrs. McVey at the left. Mayor A.W. Freeman is standing with President John Bruce of the Rotary Club during the ceremony. Growth of the Centennial tree will be observed in the years to come by many residents.

We need his firm hand at the helm during our future growth. Reeve Cumming was elected two years ago by acclamation and we would be showing our own faith in the future if he were again elected by acclamation.

Men of his qualifications are few and far between and we are fortunate that his vision and wisdom are available to us now.

LIQUOR STORE

I think it is our Central Saanich council who should advocate a liquor store for Brentwood. As I have said before, we are a growing community and it is time we started to look ahead as to what is coming in these next few years.

There are some folks who can see some of the things ahead to us. I understand we may have a bakery here soon. Who knows what is next, so why not a liquor store while property is still available?

I have, on my own, inquired from four corners of Central Saanich, and have heard that there are many who are willing and anyway will try to help Brentwood obtain a liquor outlet.

And what about our tourists? Fortunately, after having to use our local ferry, and upon inquiring from one or two of the men on board, much to my astonishment I learned that there were about 27,000 to 30,000 tourists who travelled both ways during the three summer months. I asked whether at anytime anyone had inquired concerning a yet uneasy, wavering between hope and despair, the thought of the presence and activity of God in history, should come as a wholesome and steady fact. Joseph, looking back over the experiences of his life, could now say that the whole long course had been shaped by God, although it had not always seemed so. "Be not angry with yourselves, because you sold me. . . God sent me before you to preserve life."

To the Christian, God's supreme act in history is His personal advent on the human scene in Jesus Christ, "that every one who has faith in Him may not die but have eternal life." O Master of the modern day, Our hearts are kindled as we know Thou walkest still along life's way, As in the ages long ago, God of the present day and hour, Thrill us anew with holy power.

Dual Control Of Water Creates Some Problems

Dual control of water resources in Central Saanich has its problems of policy and administration, some of which were discussed by Central Saanich council at last week's meeting.

Brentwood Water District, long established by Letters Patent, has full control over water distribution in the Brentwood Bay area; the remainder of the municipality is serviced by the utility under council supervision.

When councillors met with directors of the Brentwood Water District recently the question of payment for water hydrant installations was raised. It was submitted to council that 41 hydrants have been installed and paid for by the Brentwood authority, yet residents of that area are sharing also in the cost of the hydrants installed by council elsewhere in the municipality.

Councillor A.M. Galbraith remarked that it must be remembered that council responsibilities include fire fighting throughout the municipality. He suggested that in future all hydrant installations, other than those put in by sub-division development, should be financed out of general revenue. He considered that additional hydrants will be required in the Brentwood water district in view of the balancing tanks being installed above Benvenuto Road.

"Certainly, a policy for the future should be initiated," commented Councillor C.W. Mollard. Council resolved to table the question until the return of Reeve R.G. Lee.

Three Bears And Lights Out Entertain Galiano Crows

The Three Bears came to Galiano Island on November 10th, and captured the hearts of not only the children, but a good crowd of mothers and grandmothers and great-grandmothers, too.

Madge Adelberg's delightful musical must be seen by all age groups. It is certainly not for small children alone. It has been showing to packed houses for more than 10 years now, and for three special Christmas shows during that time over nation-wide television.

The group of eight came over on Thursday night from Victoria, and early Friday morning Don McManus was up to Galiano Hall to begin the setting up of lights and scenery. Soon the other members came too, but stage manager Gina Bigelow was really quite ill with the flu, so had to go back to the Day residence, where some of the cast stayed the rest of them at Robsons.

Merlisse Hill, accompanist, sat down at the piano, and began to play a number from the show, and all of a sudden, the Hall was filled with the glorious polished voices of these professionals, as they toted in scenery, unpacked costumes, and put up stage lights.

At promptly 1.30, the first production began, and soon all of the audience was taken back to their earlier days of fairy tales, unfolding right on stage.

Again the Hall was filled with these wonderful voices, and everyone there enjoyed every minute of it.

But this was not the end. No one knew of the telephone call back to Victoria for special lights that had been forgotten, and Rod Rees went down to the 5.30 ferry to meet the parcel sent, then all three men, assisted by Rod, went to work to put up all of the many special spotlights needed for the evening performance of "Lights Up".

Setting up left not much time for rest between shows, and with three of the cast not feeling well, residents felt sorry for them having to carry on.

During the day, coffee was served, and also luncheon by Tom Carolan, who made some of his clam chowder, much enjoyed by the cast.

The show did carry on, and early in the evening, seats began to fill up for "Lights Up" which is compiled from writings of Eric Nichol, adapted and directed by Peter Mannering, with original music by Marge Adelberg.

All seats in the Hall were filled, more than 150 and every one there had a very special treat. Costumes, music, lights, and superb voices joined to make an unforgettable performance for all of the people there. This is the first time in more than 40 years of entertainment at Galiano Hall, that a live theatre play has ever come direct from McPherson Playhouse in Victoria, and they were warmly received.

The stars were: Marge Bridgeman, Margaret Martin, Nancy Watts, accompanist Merlisse Hill, stage manager Gina Bigelow, Bill Bosic, Glen McDonald and Don McManus.

Local Soccer Teams Hit By Shutouts

Saturday was a black day for local juvenile soccer teams when they were matched against the top teams in their respective divisions and were unable to score a goal against very capable defenses.

Cougars had the only home fixture against the Lake Hill Kiwanis who arrived at Sanscha with a remarkable record of 35 goals scored and none conceded in their five games played this season. The game was scoreless until the last five minutes of the first half when the Lake Hill forwards broke through for three quick goals. Conceding a fourth goal just after the interval, the Cougars nevertheless continued to give an all-out effort but were unable to pierce the strong Kiwanis defence.

The clash between the top two teams in division six at Hampton Park matching the Thistles against the Gorge F.C., was a fast even game which might have gone either way, but it was the home team that snatched the all important goal and then held out defensively to win 1-0.

Gorge F.C. also provided the opposition for the Tigers in their division five game at Colquitz Park. The Tigers without their regular goal keeper and an experienced defender were no match for the Gorge squad, whose positional play and team work indicated excellent coaching. The Tigers were also a credit to their coach when even though they were defeated 6-0 they never gave up, and during the last fifteen minutes of the game controlled more of the play than their opponents.

Peninsula Rovers did very well in the first half of their pre-season friendly game, holding the Cadboro Bay squad to a scoreless tie but when the Rovers coach tried out his second stringers after the interval Cadboro Bay soon broke the deadlock and went on to win 5-0.

By an unusual coincidence Sidnit United also went against the league leaders, Scottish Optimists, in their division one game Sunday at Sanscha. The game ended in a 2-2 tie, which was a fair result as United took first half honors with a two goal lead when Keith Hannan headed one home and Ted Clarke slid along the turf to deflect the ball into goal for the second marker. Scottish came back with two goals in the second half to tie the score and so it remained as neither team was able to break the deadlock.

TO DISCUSS LIBRARY BUDGET

Library committee chairman Alderman W.W. Gardner Monday night asked for a meeting of a committee of the whole to discuss the proposed budget for the library for 1968.

Rawcliffes To Celebrate Fifty Years Of Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Rawcliffe of 9716 Second Street, Sidney, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rawcliffe, 2224 Amity Drive, North Saanich.

The celebration will be held Sunday, November 19, with open house from 2 to 6 p.m. For transportation, call 656-2247 by Saturday.

They were married in Burnley, Lancashire, England, during Mr. Rawcliffe's leave from Salonika, where he served with the Imperial artillery.

CLASSES START AFTER NEW YEAR

The number of registered students taking night school classes in School District 63 (Saanich) reached a new peak this year. Enrollment is up 32% over last year's figures. The 25 classes held are attended by 375 students.

Although most of the classes are held once a week from October to March, a few of the short courses will be offered again in January. For the ladies, "A More Attractive You", for the men "Outdoor Motor Maintenance" and for the small producer, an "Agricultural Short Course".

Other short courses being offered in January are: "Rumpus or Family Room Construction", "Management Accounting For Small Businesses", "New Mathematics For Parents", "Flower Arranging", "Esperanto", "Get Fit and Keep Trim" (for ladies), "Introduction to Fine Arts (pottery, sculpture, painting), and a course in "Home Nursing".

Details of the courses being offered in January 1968 will be publicized about mid-December; all classes in the adult education program will begin during the week of January 8, 1968.

Pro-registration will be requested again and it has proven to be a very accurate indication of potential class attendance.

Local Bakery Sold

The Homespun Bakery on Third Street is under new management. It had been operated for several months by Ron Treby of Victoria, who also owns two other bakery goods stores in the city. On November 1, the ownership changed. New owner is Roy Hehn of Metchohn. Name of the establishment has also changed -- it's now known as Roy's Bakery and Cafe.

Management of the place has, however, not changed. It is run by Mrs. Ruth Bowcott and Mrs. Ruby Hanson, both of Sidney, who operated the shop during the tenure of Mr. Treby. Hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Remembrance Day Service

A most impressive and colourful service was held at the hall in Port Washington on Remembrance Day, at 10:45 a.m.

The Legion members in full strength marched in, and all stood for the Last Post, and the two minutes' Silence. Then followed the Revellie and the placing of the wreath by Mrs. Max Allan, escorted by D. Gardner.

Bishop Coleman then took the simple but significant service, giving an address and some of his own remembrances of the Blitz in England.

Then the Legion members went by car to place the new wreath at the cemetery, where it was placed on the wrought-iron gates, and poppies from those present were placed on the graves already there marking other returned men who have passed on.

many hundreds of them.... it all amounts to many thousands. I am sure many sportsmen, after a good day's fishing or after enjoying different beaches which they have visited by boat, would on returning like to stop and buy a bottle or a case of beer of their choice to take home.

I feel that the Central Saanich Council, in all fairness to our community, should reconsider this question and approach the Chamber of Commerce or the Liquor Control Board.

Let us not forget we are one of the main outlets for our sportsmen and for tourists using the ferry and those touring our Peninsula.

I must congratulate Councillor P.F. Benn. I think he sees what is happening to us locally and is doing what he thinks is best for Central Saanich. I am sure if he, Councillor P.F. Benn, called on many of us for assistance he would get full support.

Keep up the good work Councillor Benn!

In conclusion, let's keep the bottle of our choice open and remember, no man is a camel!

RURAL ATMOSPHERE

Prior to the recent referendum on the proposed amalgamation between North Saanich and Sidney, as president of the Deep Cove Property Owners Association I took a strong stand against amalgamation. Despite a certain reticence to appear in print I feel I must make my own personal views public.

May I congratulate the property owners of North Saanich on their rejection of amalgamation without any assurance that their future growth would be oriented towards the preservation of a rural atmosphere.

Only two years ago the proposition to incorporate North Saanich with the clear objective "to control our own future and thereby preserve the rural atmosphere" was presented to the voters. By the result of the vote this was clearly their desire. Since then we have seen the penetration of council by a group whose positions have turned out to be clearly contrary to this objective, which, as proved by the recent referendum, has not changed.

The objective "To retain a rural atmosphere" has been stated many times by many people. To this primary objective must be added "and to prepare, as population pressures increase, to ensure that development is planned and implemented in such a way as to retain maximum natural beauty and amenities, preventing destruction by uncontrolled growth." This can only be done with careful and consistent planning. Parallel with this planning must be incorporated some system of relief for the owners of sub-marginal farms or other non-productive rural land, who are at present prevented from subdividing for the good of the whole, so that they will not suffer.

It is my opinion that some members of council who strongly promoted amalgamation have shown themselves to be quite insensitive to the will of the people who elected them. In particular Reeve Cumming and Councillor Horth, acting doubtless in what they believed to be the best interests of the people, not only clearly identified themselves with amalgamation, but did not hesitate to personally attack those councillors who opposed their views. Do they now regard the majority of the voters in the same light?

The Reeve has been quoted as saying "This is settled as far as I am concerned," and is understood to be taking the position of setting up arrangements to advance the will of the people. The vote against amalgamation in effect reiterated the desires of the residents as expressed two years ago prior to incorporation and one wonders whether the Reeve and his most outspoken supporter Councillor Horth will pay any more attention to this second direction by the people than they did to the first.

If we are to avoid a council at cross purposes I believe that the Reeve and those councillors whose ideas were so flatly repudiated by the residents should be replaced by others whose views in these matters are demonstrably clear and in general accord with those of the majority of the residents.

LANGUAGE

Much concern is being shown regarding the use of cultured or uncultured English in our schools and elsewhere. Many facts have been brought forward which throw light on our age of civilization and now we must evaluate the condition as being one of improved standards or otherwise.

Every parent desires the best out of life for their children, and being one of these people, I offer my honest and sincere thoughts on the topic for your appraisal or publication.

Language to the good speaker is as paints to a fine artist. Words are the tools which we use to create concepts and values in life. Standards of refinement and ideals are reflected in our lives if we cultivate good use of language. In the use of slang, we must be aware of the association and environment in which these words are used most commonly, and whether or not this is the part of life we desire to portray.

To draw another parallel: language, like music, can be used to create beauty and harmony, or discord and confusions. We need not deliberately play disharmony or read trash to know it exists. What parent would place his child's hand in a fire to teach the youngster that it causes pain, damage, and a scar for life?

How can we progress if we continually make the same mistakes one generation after another?

Composition and literature should always remain foremost in the school curriculum, and those who teach it should strive to bring the finer qualities out of students by being an example to them. Unfortunately, public demands, more often than not, restrict those teachers who desire to cultivate refinement and they are forced to conform in order to earn a livelihood at the vocation for which they have trained.

Censorship of words is similar to alcohol. It makes the immature mind feel there is a personal freedom being taken away without justification. If we never had dogs, then there would never be the need to tie them up for fear of them biting someone or destroying property.

The choice of literature a person reads is a very good indication as to the type of character he is, for in order to find enough interest in a book to continue to read it, we must interpret the

Councillor T. C. M. Davis of North Saanich this week commented to The Review on the forthcoming municipal election in the municipality. Mr. Davis' statement follows:

The municipal affairs of North Saanich deserve far closer attention by the property owners than that given during the past two years. Perhaps, after incorporation, we felt that the appointment of the Joint Council of the property-owners' associations as the first municipal Council would guarantee the carrying out of the wishes of the people, as expressed at the public meetings before incorporation, in the referendum since then, and in petitions submitted to Council.

Unfortunately due to replacement and substitutions of the members, and possibly to basic misconceptions concerning the wishes and objectives of the people, the North Saanich Council has moved increasingly farther away from these objectives. Progressively it has become dominated by a reeve and councillors whose lack of touch with the wishes of the majority has been dramatically demonstrated by their vigorous promotion of the ill-fated amalgamation drive.

Let there be no mistake. The amalgamation bit was only a symptom of their basic philosophy. It is only the visible 10 percent of their actions and intentions. The rest, like an iceberg has been hidden from public view.

The post-referendum claims that they were only trying to sample public opinion on the question do not jibe with their recent public exhortations and threats, and personal attacks on those having the temerity to oppose their viewpoint.

By way of review, I distinctly recollect the following expressions of the desires of my fellow residents, at public meetings and referenda.

1. We should secure and preserve undivided local control over zoning and land use, in order to protect the area from the adverse effects of urbanization and commercial land development.
2. We were not sympathetic to the provincial government's regional board scheme for taxing the land to provide public services outside the proper responsibility and authority of the municipalities.
3. In undertaking municipal incorporation we did not wish to be amalgamated with either Sidney or Central Saanich.
4. We wished to keep the municipal operation simple, and to keep taxes down by avoiding those unnecessary commitments and entanglements which characterize urbanization.

Despite this clear expression by our people, we find our zoning regulations, which were scarcely adequate when inherited from the provincial government, being watered down to give less feeling behind the author's words.

Many would think that we are unaffected by the books and literature we read. That our minds forget the interest that hold us suspended in a certain emotional experience the author visualized. Such is not the case. Our mind has been permanently affected, and our personality influenced through the experience.

Young people going to school require literature that will stimulate the constructive side of their nature, something that will help equip them to create more ideals in life, rather than destroying through emotional indulgence and war.

We as parents have a responsibility to mould young people's minds by exemplifying good conduct and a choice of words that will inspire them to leave the realms of lower thought.

protection than before, despite petitions and representations from property owners to strengthen them.

We find our reeve appointing himself as our municipal representative to the regional board, and becoming a leading functionary when we looked to incorporation as a defence against regional interference.

The amalgamation effort speaks for itself. We find our council becoming involved in empire-building schemes to expand boards and committees for the dispensation of social services.

The list could be amplified to fill pages, but in a nutshell we are getting a lot of costly commitments and frills we did not ask for, and are not getting the basic protection of our rural amenities which we did ask for.

These things have occurred because the Council has been dominated by this group, the same individuals who were promoting amalgamation, the other members being either non-committal or beaten down when they attempted to oppose the reeve and his policies. This does not mean we have been unable to conduct ordinary day-to-day business. The basic division in viewpoint has however almost invariably affected the consideration of issues involving fundamental policy on zoning and land use, the preservation of our rural environment, and ultimately the very existence of our municipality.

Most of this is unknown to the public. Press coverage has been limited, and excluded when we have got down to brass tacks in "committee of the whole". Seldom does any member of the public attend our regular council meetings. As a council member who has sat through all this, witnessing the constant and apparent defiance of what I thought the people had clearly shown to be their wishes, I believe the time has come for the people to review and reaffirm their wishes, and to elect a reeve and councillors who can be depended upon to carry them out. In short, a house-cleaning is indicated.

I suggest if the people of North Saanich want to elect good municipal candidates, they should be guided by the recommendations of their property-owners' associations, whose executives are devoting time and thought to this vital question. None of the elective jobs requires great expertise in the technical sense. We have a competent municipal staff, assisted by outside professional advice when needed, to carry out the municipal responsibilities in accordance with the broad policy as laid down by the Council. But, we must have as reeve and councillors such individuals as are fully aware of the wishes of the people and are prepared to faithfully translate this viewpoint into municipal policy.

From their recent statements, it appears that some members of our Council were unsympathetic to the majority viewpoint from the very beginning. It would seem imprudent to ask these people to undertake a further term of office if they are psychologically opposed to those principles and objectives which we wish to be implemented, regardless of their not inconsiderable personal energies and abilities.

What we urgently need for reeve and councillors are responsible citizens, having no personal axe to grind, whose viewpoints are thoroughly proved by past statements and actions and command the support of their fellow property-owners, who understand the wishes of the majority, and who have the courage to fight when necessary to defend the majority interest when it is threatened internally or externally.

In North Saanich we have an undeveloped rural area which with careful and far-sighted administration through the coming years can become a show-place, a joy to live in, and a refuge from the ever-encroaching human jungle. But if this is our goal it will be achieved only if our people work together, actively participating in and being guided by the property-owners' associations in the selection of a municipal government. Nobody else is going to defend us.

SOUTH AMERICA IS APPEALING

Lands of the Gauchos, the Incas and of course the rhumba! South America is also continent of contrasts, both in the scenery and the peoples.

The longest river in the world, the Amazon, winding its ways through cities, towns, villages and dense jungle. The Iguassu falls, higher than Niagara. South America is also a fisherman's paradise, with all the lakes, there seems to be plenty of trout and other fish just waiting to be caught. Ski resorts are world famous.

long way to enabling employed Indians to live in the Reserve Communities where they can be of great help to their fellow band members," Mr. Laing said.

A number of applications have already been made for assistance and the Minister said he hopes that the first loan will be processed and approved in a few days' time. Each Indian who takes advantage of the program must be recommended by his Band Council and in cases of default, the property reverts to the Council.

Forest values

Not all forests are of equal value or of value for the same purposes. Some are of primary importance for the growing of wood. Others are of use chiefly for the protection they afford to soil and watersheds, while others, again, are best suited for recreational and park areas. Many forests have more than one major value. For example, a forest which is particularly valuable for wood production may be equally valuable for watershed protection and as a habitat for game animals and other wildlife.

Out Of The Mixing Bowl

Men Have Their Place

BY MURIEL D. WILSON

As a rule my shopping is done on week day mornings but recently I had occasion to go down town on a Saturday morning. I was surprised to see entirely different people than those encountered on other days of the week. Week days you see a few of the older generation, husbands shopping with their wives. . . . husbands probably retired and resigned to helping with the shopping. But Saturday is really couple's day. . . . dozens of young and middle aged couples shopping together.

People are interesting to me so I began to take some notice of men shopping with their wives. The first couple, the girl in a very mini skirt and the boy in blue jeans. If they hadn't been in the drapery department making a serious purchase I'd never thought they were married but I guess they were. Deciding on the pros and cons of color and texture of the curtains was a pretty important and the boy, perhaps I should say young man, was deeply involved with the decision.

The exact opposite was a couple in the carpet department. . . . the woman was trying hard to decide between two rugs and the man couldn't have cared less, at least he gave a good show of indifference. He stood to one side tapping his foot and you could just believe if his wife didn't soon make up her mind he'd explode into words. . . . "hurry up and let's get out of here."

Hats are always an attraction for me so my next stop was the millinery department of another store. Here too were a husband and wife, thirtyish I'd say. The girl was seated in front of a mirror and the husband handing her hats to try on. He knew what he liked and he seemed to have good taste. I noticed that he looked at the price tags before handing the hat to the wife to try on. His choice was

What you use on a tooth brush is not as important as when you brush. Salt and bicarbonate of soda or ordinary soap are as effective but not as pleasant tasting as tooth paste or cleaning agents.

A man may be difficult to shop with, but we'll concede he's a very indispensable fella when it's time to pay the bills. Let's award him an orchid.

JOINT CIVIL DEFENCE FOR THREE LOCAL MUNICIPALITIES

Judged by the volume of publicity given to the subject, civil defence is the Cinderella of municipal services. Its affairs are not usually given great prominence on the agenda at council meetings.

However, the question of a joint civil defence administration for the municipalities of Sidney, Central and North Saanich has been discussed in detail at a conference of municipal representatives with Zone Co-ordinator J. D. Somerville, and recommendations have been made to the respective councils.

Meeting with Mr. Somerville were Mayor A. W. Freeman and Alderman W. W. Gardner of Sidney, Councillor Harold Andrew, Central Saanich, and Councillor D. R. Cook, North Saanich.

There has been a satisfactory response to an advertisement for the post of co-ordinator to serve the three municipalities, said Mr. Somerville this week. Central Saanich council last week received the report of Councillor Andrew, and it was approved with one reservation. It was revealed that it is proposed to offer the prospective joint co-ordinator a salary of $120 per month. This sum, said Councillor A. M. Galbraith is "completely unacceptable."

"So small an amount is out of all reason if we are to get the right man," said Councillor Galbraith. He pointed out that the work involved with the auxiliary police alone represents a considerable saving to the municipality.

It was noted that the late George Fletcher, former co-ordinator in Central Saanich, was paid only $50 per month, and that the provincial organization pays 90 per cent of the salary.

Council resolution to endorse Councillor Andrew's report was amended by unanimous vote to stipulate that the amount of salary be left open for discussion by the joint committee.

Foster Parents Holding Workshop

An all-day workshop will be held by the Foster Parents' Association of the Family and Children's Service of B.C. on Saturday, November 18, in Victoria.

Location of the workshop -- which runs from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. -- is the Ewing Building on Lansdowne Road (the Adult Education buildings).

Guest speaker during the workshop will be Dr. Charles Gregory, who is director of the Island Child Development and Research Centre. His subject will be "Searching and Sharing" which is also the theme of the workshop.

NEW RULES

A person applying for his first B.C. driver's licence is now required to hold a learner's licence for a period of 14 days before he may attend for the road test portion of the driver's examination. This 14-day period enables him to obtain the necessary driving instruction so that he may be prepared to meet the requirements of the road test.

A person applying for his first B.C. driver's licence, but who holds a valid driver's licence from another Canadian or American jurisdiction, upon surrender of that licence, will not be required to complete the road test portion of the driver's examination unless he is 70 years of age or over, or appears to have a physical disability or visual deficiency that could affect his driving.

Sparkling Comedy and Moving Drama Screened

Alec Guinness and Gina Lollobrigida have riotous fun in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Hotel Paradiso," screened at the Gem Theatre, Sidney, for three nights commencing Thursday, Nov. 16.

Set in the Paris of 1910, its turn of the century scenes and situations unfold the story of two neighboring suburban couples in a typically French tangle of matrimonial complications.

There are wild chases, hiding behind doors and in closets, futile disguises and impossible alibis, in fact all the hilarious ingredients of an entertaining stage farce with a perfectly contrived denouement. Robert Morley, Peggy Mount and Douglas Byng add full quotas to the general amusement.

Program at the Gem Theatre

ADVICE TO ARTISTS IS OFFERED BY HEMMING

The monthly meeting of Saanich Peninsula Art Centre was held in the Sidney Hotel, November 7, and was addressed by Michael Hemming, who left his native England five years ago to teach art at Victoria High School.

Over 50 people had the pleasure of hearing the witty, informative talk, which Mr. Hemming illustrated with 60 slides taken from the show held in Paris seven years ago and titled "Sources of Modern Art 1884 to 1914."

A great change in artists' thinking had begun and gathered momentum during these important 30 years, only to be interrupted by the outbreak of war.

Mr. Hemming, tracing the development of modern art, as opposed to complete realism, spoke of Cezanne, who chose to portray the "ordinary" figure in place of historical or Biblical subjects; Matisse, who simplified painting and of Van Gogh, who worked with such amazing speed he left a heritage of 1,000 paintings in his inimitable style; Monet, with his search for Impressionism and Degas and Mondrian. These and many others worked to free themselves from the yolk of tradition, to set aside subject matter for total appeal and to surprise the viewer with unexpected forms.

Mr. Hemming's advice is to be original; try something different and see if it works, which is the way of Picasso. Accept a few distortions, they do not signify incompetence, and try, for a change to think laterally instead of vertically.

The audience was very appreciative of this competent, entertaining and thought-provoking speaker.

AMBULANCE

A recommendation from the 1967 fire committee of Sidney and North Saanich that the 1968 body make provision in its budget for the purchase of a new ambulance was passed by Sidney council Monday night.

Germany now has 36 castles converted into hotels, with a total of 1000 beds, the B.C. Automobile Association reports. They booked more than 140,000 overnight stays last year.

PLAN TO MERGE RECREATIONAL COMMISSIONS IS GIVEN STUDY

Proposal to merge the recreational commissions of Sidney and North Saanich municipalities met with a varying response on Monday evening.

Sidney council gave approval in principle to the suggestion. North Saanich council debated the question at length, accepted the report of delegate Councillor F. C. Adams, but came to no conclusion.

"Sidney seems to do much more promotional work than we do. Are we dragging our feet?" queried Councillor Adams.

"The person who writes up the notes for Sidney Recreational Commission may be a little quicker at picking up credits," observed Reeve J.B. Cumming. He saw no reason why there should not be co-operation between the two bodies, but each working in its own municipality. He said that he saw merit in the councillor's submission, but pointed out that North Saanich makes the larger contribution ($1,000). "It is our taxpayers' money, and I would prefer it to be spent in the municipality," he remarked.

"We must remember that all the functions in Sanscha Hall are one-half ours," said Councillor Adams.

"It is quite true that Sanscha is a common unit," observed Councillor Mrs. Neil Horth, "but

EXCAVATING FIRMS ARE PENALIZED

In Sidney police court this past week, $300 in fines were handed down to three excavating firms on charges of overweight vehicles.

Charged and convicted on two counts each, were Chew Excavating Ltd., Saanich; Oliver Equipment Service and Supply Ltd., Victoria; and Mattison and Patterson Ltd., Victoria. Charges were laid under the Commercial Transportation Act; each count brought a fine of $50.

Also in court was David Edward Courser, fined $15 for having no horn in operable condition in his car.

Michael Eckert and Kenneth Fielding were remanded in custody without plea on a charge of breaking and entering with intent. The police found the pair in Sidney Super Foods on November 7 at 2:25 a.m.

we have to reach every corner of the municipality. There are areas we should develop."

The reeve wondered whether the question of loss of governmental grant in the event of a merger had been fully considered.

Councillor Adams in his presentation had put forward the case for a joint commission, wherein it was remarked that relations with the school board would be much healthier. He agreed that the proposal requires study.
